

This Application Information is for the Environment and Public Works Republican Office

Interning is a wonderful opportunity to experience the federal government's legislative branch first-hand. By attending committee hearings, briefings, assisting with research to aid the committee, and performing general office duties, interns gain a "behind the scenes" perspective of the legislative process. Students interested in the internship program must submit a completed application.

Fall and spring internships last approximately ten-twenty weeks, dependent upon the schedule of each intern. Summer internships are usually 10 weeks; Spring internships can go up to twenty weeks. Interns are responsible for arranging their own housing. Though no specific major or program is necessary, a good academic record is required. Applicants who can work full-time (40 hours/five days per week) are preferred for fall and spring, but not required. Students currently in law school or maintaining other advanced degrees are also welcome to apply. Qualified applicants will have completed their freshman year of college, and will have sent in all of the following information on or before the deadline.

- Completed application form
- Short writing sample
- Resume
- Letters of recommendation – we recommend, but do not require these.

NOTE: Letters of recommendation may be sent separately from application, but must be received on or before the deadline.
